PROFILE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF STUTT GART

The University of Stuttgart is situated in the center of one of Europe's major high-tech regions. Founded in 1829, the former Technical University has turned into a place for education and research that is popular all over the world.

Its excellent status is mirrored by two projects which are supported by the Excellence Initiative of the Federal Government – the excellence cluster “Simulation Technology” and the “Graduate School of Excellence advanced Manufacturing Engineering” (GSaME) – and by the university's participation in numerous special fields of research and graduate schools. Building networks between technical and scientific fields of study as well as the humanities and the social sciences is one of the strengths of the University of Stuttgart. The institutes of the University of Stuttgart are subdivided into ten faculties. The University offers bachelor and master courses, several of which are taught in English. As a university with two campuses – one in the city center and the other one in Stuttgart-Vaihingen – conveniently connected by public transport, the University of Stuttgart offers the best studying and working conditions.

Every year, graduates of the University of Stuttgart start their professional career with an excellent education. According to the principle “technology, knowledge and education for people,” the University of Stuttgart prepares its students very well for the step into a job market that is in a state of constant change. In the context of “life-long learning” there is also a broad range of outstanding possibilities for continuing education available to former students after they have graduated from the University of Stuttgart.

ALUMNI NETWORK OF THE UNIVERSITY OF STUTTGART

Since its foundation in 2002, the alumni network of the University of Stuttgart, "alumnus", has built up a central network which is directed at students, graduates and university members on the one hand, and at partners and sponsors of the University of Stuttgart on the other. It connects national and international members from all disciplines and fields. "alumnus" is the central equivalent to the numerous alumni clubs and friends of the faculties, and it cooperates with the "Vereinigung von Freunden der Universität Stuttgart e. V." (Association of Friends of the University of Stuttgart e. V.). As a network for communication and service, "alumnus" offers a wide range of activities that promote the communication and the exchange of views between its members. That way, students can already get in touch with alumni and partners while they are enrolled. These contacts can help building up a personal network that lasts for years to come.

The term alumnus (m.) respectively alumna (f.) is derived from Latin and means "the nurtured". The alumni network uses the term "alumnae/alumni of the University of Stuttgart" for all students who are currently enrolled at the University of Stuttgart as well as for all its former students and for those people who are closely related to the University of Stuttgart. Members of the University of Stuttgart, sponsors and partners can also join the alumni network.

The idea of networking, which is as at the root of "alumnus," implies mutual support. With the help of the alumni network, our members have the chance to take an active part in their alma mater – ideationally as well as financially. Such an involvement is voluntary and hence not required for a membership. People with special relationships to the University of Stuttgart are awarded with an honorary membership.

"alumnus" specifically supports the transfer of information and knowledge between the University of Stuttgart and companies, organizations and institutions based in the economy, science and society. With its alumni network, the university offers a professional and interdisciplinary platform for all of its students and graduates in order to maintain and cultivate valuable bonds. At the same time, it gives members the chance to get in touch with functionaries and opinion leaders.
